LEGISLATIVE ACTION PLANS TO APPOINT HIGH- WAY COMMISSIONERS

Representative's Bill Would Make It So For Three Years
Only—Highway Program—Senator Harrison
Contributes to Success

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
Jackson, Miss.—Legislative action is to be taken this week on the highway commission reorganization proposal. Many of the administration leaders are supporting the Lader bill, which would permit the elected highway commissioners to serve out their terms, and then provide for a three-year appointive period after which the commission again would become elective.

Such a provision would allow Governor Hugh White to appoint the three highway commissioners for the years 1937, 1938 and 1939, during the height of the $40,000,000 road paving program.

Senator Pat Harrison has notified Governor Hugh White that $33,500,000 PWA funds have been officially allotted to Mississippi for its road paving. Of this sum $15,000,000 is an outright grant, and $18,500,000 will be swapped for that amount of 4 per cent state bonds.

Senator Harrison, last summer, had President Franklin D. Roosevelt to "ear mark" $10,000,000 grant for Mississippi highways, the president agreeing to hold this sum until February 15, 1936, giving the White administration and new legislature time in which to enact the necessary road paving legislation.

Since passage of the road-paving legislation Senator Harrison, through negotiations with President Roosevelt and others in Washington, was successful in getting the grant raised another $5,000,000, making the gift to Mississippi $15,000,000 for the road paving program.

The state still has $4,500,000 authorized 4 per cent bonds for the highway program which the PWA will take if they are not sold to private interests. Proceeds of this issue will be used in matching $4,200,000 regular federal aid.

Plans are ready for the advertising for bids on $6,000,000 in paving contracts within the next few days. Actual paving should be under way within the next six weeks.

Gas and Petroleum Having Modern and Roomy Place Constructed

Emilio Cue, resident distributor for Shell products, in Hancock County, has a force of men constructing a service station and spacious garage building for his own account on the beach in Pass Christian, and to be ready for business as early as completion will make it possible.

The site is in the very heart of the beach business district, on a lot formerly occupied by a building known for years as the Sazerac Saloon, prior to prohibition, and which he recently purchased.

Frank P. Wittman is contractor and has quite a force of men on the job and in order to complete the building at early date.

The place of business will be headed by men formerly connected with the Barksdale organization. Herbert Hanson, automobile mechanic, will be chief of the repair and garage department, specializing in repair work of every type. Dick Keel will be manager of the service station, dispensing gas and lubricants to the trade and rendering such service as he knows from experience and inclination.

"I have planned not only to build well but in such manner as to make it possible to give the public the best service," said Mr. Cue. "This will be done with proper and ample equipment and no pains nor expense will be spared. Also with people working for me who know how to work and who will greet the public in solicitous and most cordial manner."

"The Shell products are of such quality as to need no comment. They have been tried and used over the world, giving the most satisfaction."

At present residence of one year is needed. It takes a residence of two years to qualify to vote. The Smith bill does not change the grounds for divorce, which already are very liberal in Mississippi.

CITIZEN REGISTERS COMPLAINT

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Mar. 10, 1936. Editor Sea Coast Echo.
Dear Sir—With renewed vigor, robbery has again broken out in our fair city. Like H. G. Wells' "Invisible Man," the burglars are not seen and the only evidence of their activity is the loss that follows. They seem to glide all around our officers and are so successful in avoiding detection that on Friday night they robbed two stores. It is my understanding that many more robberies have been committed since my letter to you about six weeks ago.

The writer appreciates your efforts with the officials at that time, but what is needed is that the light of publicity be thrown upon this matter and it is only through the columns of your progressive paper that our citizens can be roused to the menace that lurks in their midst. In the interest of fair play and the welfare of our community, the Echo is earnestly requested to start the ball rolling.

Respectfully,
PAUL N. PLANCHET

Azalea Trail At Mobile Formally Opened Sunday

Mobile, March 4.—Mobile's azalea-flanked avenues which make up the Azalea Trail were formally opened for inspection by citizens and visitors Sunday as Miss Mary Bacon, "Queen Mary" of the city's carnival court, clipped a ribbon spanning the first length of the trail at the corner of St. Joseph and St. Francis streets.

Miss Bacon's act followed elaborate ceremonies in Bienville Square, where numerous prominent Mobilians spoke, and precipitated the first procession through the trail as about 140 automobiles, with Sam Lackland, the "father" of the trail, at the head, escorted by state highway patrolmen.

A check made at Bellinrath Gardens, gorgeous estate of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bellinrath, and a principal attraction of the trail, revealed that 3,356 persons in automobiles went through the trail between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Sunday.

More than 20 states were represented among the cars which followed the meandering route. Of these, Louisiana and Florida led, both represented by 19 cars, while Mississippi was closely behind with 14 autos.

AMATEUR PROGRAM AT WAVE- LAND.

The Waveland P. T. A. have sponsored a Family Night under the direction of Mrs. Hilda Leonard, Recreation Leader, March 18, 1936, at the school auditorium, 7:30 P. M. It will be amateur night. Applicants wishing to participate notify Mrs. Leonard.

PAT DID IT AS USUAL

Mississippians should bear in mind that it was Senator Pat Harrison, foremost among the men of influence in Washington, who put thru the PWA grant that makes our $43,000,000 state highway building program possible. Others merely stood on the sidelines and cheered. Pat was carrying the ball over the goal line at the White House, says the Jackson News.

NEXT YEAR

Apparently, income tax exemptions will be lowered next year and the probability is that the taxable portion of all incomes will pay a higher rate. In other words, government must be paid for.

TO CONTINUE

The probability is that relief expenditures next year will continue the effort to provide work for at least 3,500,000 persons. Moreover, the CCC will probably maintain its present size—500,000 workers.

AMATEUR NIGHT AT BAY CLUB

Saturday Night at Uncle
Charlie's To Be Scene of First Amateur Presentation

In every community there is some talent, which only needs to be exploited to bring recognition, and to bring out these gifted amateurs, Uncle Charlie's Nite Club will have an amateur contest on Saturday, March 14, for all over 16 years of age. First award $5.00, second award $2.50. Any musical instrument, singing, dancing or reciting would be given a hearing.

In this manner Mr. Breath is not only adding a popular feature to his well-known Nite Club, but is giving every lady and gentleman possessing some talent or another, an opportunity to receive the plaudits and approval of the public. It might mean the successful career of someone, who because of opportunity, has failed to come forward and receive proper recognition.

The date is this coming Saturday, March 14. The only requirement is that the applicant be 16 years or over. This will be for adults only.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ELIZABETH BLOUNT FIELD

(From Centerville, Miss., Jeffersonian)

To the mind of this writer it appears that in the many years history of this newspaper it has never been called upon to chronicle a sadder death than that of Mrs. Elizabeth Blount Field, beloved wife of Dr. S. E. Field, of Centerville, which occurred at three o'clock Sunday morning, February 16, at the Field Memorial Hospital there after two months of desperate illness. The funeral services which were held at four o'clock that afternoon, at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Field were conducted by Dr. John Land, pastor of the St. Charles Avenue Presbyterian church of New Orleans, who was assisted by Rev. F. L. McCue, pastor of the local Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Field was a loyal and devoted member. Interment was made in Oaklawn cemetery in the presence of a great throng of people of this county and adjacent counties who had gathered there because of their interest and sympathy. The greatest profusion of lovely flowers of every kind were brought to make an exquisite blanket over the grave. In their fragile and delicate beauty they could not fail to remind the saddened spectators at these sad rites of the lasting beauty and glory and eternal sunshine of the other life in which the sweet spirit of this young woman had awakened.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. S. E. Field, one small son, Dr. E. Jr., a child of six years of age, one brother, Mr. I. T. Blount, of Houston, Texas and two sisters, Mrs. Albert Marks, also of Houston, and Miss Lydia Boyd Blount, now making her home in Centerville.

Mrs. Field was a native of Water Valley, a member of a well known Mississippi family, but spent much of her childhood and young womanhood in Oxford in the home of her uncle, Dr. Bell of the University faculty and her aunt, Mrs. Bell, and was a graduate of that institution. About eight years ago she married Dr. S. E. Field in Bay St. Louis at the home of her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Shipp and came with her husband to live here where he had established an extensive and successful practice of their profession. Since then she had been prominent in all the social and philanthropic activities of the town, having soon become such a part of its life that no young woman here was ever more popular, so it has been repeatedly and generally said.

Mentally alert, efficient, energetic, Mrs. Field was an ideal homemaker as well as a devoted wife and mother. Along with these unusual qualities of mind she possessed that rare and elusive characteristic charm, which with her radiant and lovely personality and cordial manner gave her a place in the hearts of all who knew her well that cannot be filled. To her crushed and bereaved family the entire community extends sympathy, feeling as they do that the untimely death is one of the inexplicable mysteries of this life.

"O Father, when the darkening shadows come
'And overcast the brightness of our day,
When from serene cloudless skies
there falls
All suddenly a blot upon our way;
When life at times seems hardly worth the while
Of fighting through—we cannot see the use—
Father, help us to keep our faith in Thee.
For that through all we must not dare not lose."

BISHOP BRATTON TO BE HERE

Bishop Theodor D. Bratton, of the diocese of Mississippi, will be in Bay St. Louis Saturday evening to administer confirmation at Christ Episcopal Church at 7:30 o'clock accompanied by the usual services.

CHARGES GAS TAX EVASIONS

Over Two Million Dollars
Lost by State Annually—
Senate Committee Investigating

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
Jackson, Miss.—The senatorial charge that $2,000,000 is being lost annually through gasoline tax evasions was made last week end by the senate, committee investigating an alleged gasoline tax evasion racket.

The committee, consisting of Chairman Stewart Watson and Senators G. B. Merring and Joe Cook, charge that the racket is operated through forgeries in refunds, blending of gasoline with kerosene for sale to motorists and labeling gasoline as kerosene.

Chairman Watson charged that the evidence disclosed so far indicates that more than $10,000,000 has been unlawfully diverted from state and county treasuries. That would be enough to place a concrete slab on 500 miles of state highways.

KIPLING'S WORKS INTERPRETED BY BAY ST. LOUIS RESIDENT

George E. Schilling—Speaker Before Book-Of-The-Month Club at Library

The large number of members who attended the regular meeting of the Review of the Month Club on Tuesday, March 10, enjoyed a rare treat. Mr. George E. Schilling, who has recently settled in Bay St. Louis, gave an informal and well-pointed interpretation of the poetry of Rudyard Kipling. "Interpretation" is exactly the word, for Mr. Schilling did not attempt a biography of the man whose verse was contemptuously called "doggerel" by the critics but who lies buried in Westminster Abbey, the man who was a personal friend of the royal house of Great Britain but who was never Poet Laureate. Neither did he review any of Kipling's many books, for, as Mr. Schilling said, "to review a man whose best work was done forty years ago for a Book of the Month Club seems hardly in place."

Instead, through selected readings and sympathetic comment, the life philosophy and the inner force which drove the so-called "Poet of Empire" from the time when he was just the puny, ink-stained Beetle scribbling jingling invective and satire until his ringing speech at his installation as Rector of the University of Edinburgh, was brilliantly developed.

The critics have called Kipling the "Poet of Empire." Rather he was the bard of the builders of empire. He did not sing of the Ansons, the Magellans, the Drakes and Carsons and Fremonts and Perrys, the Hastings and Rhodes whose names bulk large in history. His chosen heroes were the nameless soldiers who took Lungtungpen, the forgotten engineer who drains the pestilential swamp in order that hostile and protesting brown men may no longer die in the rainy season, the underpaid and unheroic civil servant who does the actual work of organization and government in the far-flung borders of civilization, "blamed by the powers at home if he makes a mistake, and thanked by nobody if he succeeds."

Kipling's characters are doers, not dreamers. They do not analyze reports, they go out into the jungles and make them. Voluntary exiles, they spend the brief working life which hard service allows them homesick for "everything that goes with evening dress." Their old age is a haze of nostalgia for the "sunshine and the palm trees and the tinkling temple bells." And the Heaven they hope to gain is one where they can work through all eternity "drawing things as they see them for the God of Things as they Are." Mr. Schilling's years at this very sort of work in the Philippines, in Cuba, and in other sultry outposts of our own colonial government made his interpretation sure and very real. He not only loves Kipling. He understands him.

If you have not recently visited the rooms of the Hancock County Free Library, a call there now is well worth while, for the walls are hung with a collection of recent paintings from the gifted brush of Mrs. Nina Stillwell. In addition to the loan of these pictures, Mrs. Stillwell has generously donated one of the loveliest (the marine view to your right as you enter) to the Library. It will be awarded for the benefit of the Book Fund. Miss Crawford or Miss Chapman can tell you about tickets.

MANY ARE CALLED—FEW ARE CHOSEN

LIKE every session of every Legislature a surplus number of bills are introduced, some good, bad and indifferent. The greater number, however, fail to get out from the committee room, where they are studied and where, if so decided, either go to the floor for debate or remain in oblivion.

Many such bills have been introduced in the Mississippi Legislature and have been buried, others allowed to see the light of the floor either of the Senate or house, whatever case it might be.

Recently the committee in the House O. K'd the bill introducing hard liquor back to Mississippi, with the local option provision. How far this bill will proceed is problematical. But we would not care to sponsor for such bill and its chances. But in these days things that were well nigh impossible are today received and become conventional.

Another bill in the committee room, but likely to be approved, is that requiring only six weeks' residence in Mississippi to apply for divorce instead of the present one year requirement.

This bill it appears, has more friends than one would ordinarily give credit and it is reported its passage is likely. We do not wish to discuss the merits or demerits of such a bill here, but one thing is certain, should it be written into our lawbooks it will make for an influx into Mississippi far exceeding that of famed Reno, Nevada, where the requirement is six months. The Mississippi Gulf Coast would fare well in that respect wherein it would make for a larger floating population. Many would come here from time to time for the required six weeks legal residence and during that time become better acquainted with this section and possibly remain. However, selfish or even mercenary this view might seem, the fact remains the Gulf Coast would prove inviting to many seeking the short-time residence.

As to the fate of the bill no one knows.

THE QUINTUPLETS' PROGRESS

THE world famous Dionne quintuplets, who will be two years old in May, are thriving, with Dr. Defoe, their physician, predicting that in three months they will average the normal weight of a single baby of their age.

The doctor is quite proud of his charges, who have their own hospital and nurses in the Ontario, Canada, community where they were born. Sleeping outdoors, even when the temperature is 30 degrees below zero, they eat a normal diet—bananas, oranges, vegetables, cereal, soups and milk. Their mental progress is about the same as normal single children.

The vast difference comes when the question of finances is considered. Here the quintuplets are far ahead of the normal single child, with a fortune of about $150,000 on hand and the prospect of much more before they can grow up.

REMEDY WILL BE NECESSARY

EDITOR Fred Sullens of the Jackson News continues his fight on what he assumes to be a duplication of school and schooling in Mississippi, and what he recently termed "frills, foibles and foolishness." There is entirely too much money spent annually he declares for surplus teachers and schools; that the cost now far exceeds the ability of the people to pay and it is time to call a halt. It has been pointed out the one-teacher rural school is a thing of the past. Consolidation means not only for better work but fewer schools and fewer teachers. We would not venture to say what is the trouble but if the cost exceeds the income surely some remedy of necessity will have to be applied.

Mississippi Legislature has tentatively set March 21 as the date of adjournment but with so much work yet ahead that seems a well nigh impossibility, even though that body has within a comparative short time accomplished so much. Many of the big things, however, remain undone. But since this session is noted for the absence of partisanship wrangling and of 'killing time' it is possible an early adjournment might be anticipated.

We are apprehensive the impassable condition of the O. S. T. Shortcut (on Louisiana side) is going to affect the greater popularity of the La-Miss. Shortcut. The surface, for over a two-mile stretch seems to have gone under altogether. Part of it had to be shelled.

Local real estate representatives report the demand for houses and other property for the forthcoming summer is going to exceed the supply. This is a healthy sign and indicates the Gulf Coast is fast coming back into its own.

One thing may be said of the President's new tax proposals. Big business favors that part which provides for the repeal of nearly a billion dollars of existing taxes!

Now that Germany has a new Zeppelin, ready to fly across the Atlantic ocean, we might wonder why Americans, with their boasted initiative, can't do as well.

If you find The Sea Coast Echo interesting we would appreciate it very much if you take the trouble to recommend it to some non-reading friend, if you can find one.

HOSPITALS DOOMED

THIS is not a cheerful head but it indicates just what is meant, that Mississippi will cease appropriations for continuance of State-operated hospitals; that since tax-payers have long ago cried 'enough' there must be radical retrenchment; that we can no longer have the things we formerly were able to have when we had the wherewithal to pay the price.

The day of judgment is inevitable. There comes the ultimate finality to all things which can no longer subsist. Perish they must and this applies not only to hospitals but to many things tax-payers of Mississippi have had to shoulder, regardless if they had the money or not—as it seemed.

Here's the latest from a print at Jackson: Charity hospitals of the state are doomed in the opinion of Rep. Geo W. Evans of Jones, who told his constituency on a week-end visit home that efforts to forestall abolition of the institutions have been futile.

"We tried to block the bill in the Senate, in committee and in the House. The bill is set for consideration in the House Tuesday and I believe that the hospitals are lost." Evans stated that he and his fellow representatives had tried to keep the local South Mississippi Charity Hospital open, but their efforts were futile.

"We did all we could for the schools under the circumstances," he said in speaking of activity in behalf of their institutions. "There has been lots of money spent on the schools in this state—in fact too much. I do not refer to teachers. Their salaries are low. I believe the law that was passed this week is now on the governor's desk will solve the problem in the future. The law provides that the county superintendent of education and the trustees of special consolidated school districts working with the state superintendent of education shall set up a school budget every July. There is a penalty attached to be enforced on those authorities who act contrary to the new law."

Old age pensions were next discussed, the speaker stating that "we have passed a bill in the House to take care of the old folks 65 years and older. I think it will pass the Senate. We do not know how much money the appropriation committee will set up and we don't know how many old people there are in the state. We are asking for a million dollars and we know the federal government will match what we put up."

GOV. WHITE'S RECENT VISIT TO THE COAST

ACCOMPANYING members of the Mississippi Legislature, Governor White was a recent visitor to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Of course this was not his first visit to this favored region, but it was his first as Governor of the commonwealth.

He is quoted as being "thoroughly in sympathy with the efforts being made to develop the Mississippi Coast as a resort center and said that as this section became better known it would, in his opinion, come into its own and become a great national playground."

After a drive along the Coast where he visited many points of scenic and historic interest the governor was loud in his praise of the beauties of the Coast and declared that during his administration the Coast section would not be overlooked.

With the building of paved highways leading to the Coast already taken care of, there will soon be a great influx of visitors here, the governor thought, and expressed himself in favor of developing the section to meet the recreational demands that these visitors would make.

He foresaw a great industrial future for the Coast section of his state, the governor declared, but spoke in particular of the beauty and climate that he felt certain would make Mississippi's Coast line a great mecca for visitors from all sections of the country as it becomes more widely known.

As a port, Gulfport would receive the full support of his administration and the Legislature, the governor said.

EPIDEMIC OF ROBBERIES

THE Sea Coast Echo elsewhere in this issue publishes a communication from one of our substantial and respective citizens in which he deprecates the epidemic of petty robberies that have continued the past several weeks over our city.

No one feels safe. No place or section of the city is spared. These robberies are committed in private homes and business places as well and the matter has grown to serious import. So much so that drastic measures seem the only resort left.

Surely there must be suspicion. And regardless whether there is lack of conclusive evidence, it would seem a number of arrests would in all probability bring not only the guilty ones to punishment but would put a stop to depredations and remove a menace to every home, where wife and children abide. Some night, possibly, there is going to be shooting and someone is going to unnecessarily forfeit a life.

The matter has grown to such extent that it has become serious and there is talk of calling a mass meeting.

BIG CITY SPENDS MUCH

THE average citizen of Bay St. Louis will probably be amazed to learn that the city of New York, in 1935, received in cash, exclusive of borrowings, the sum of $382,943,808.

It is hard to realize the enormous cost of operating a city of the size of the nation's metropolis—by far larger than the amount spent in a year by most if not all of the States.

Interesting is the fact that the city spent for relief, in 1935, $190,529,331, of which the State contributed $147,907,147. Altogether, in the four years, 1932-35 the expenditures for relief have been more than $452,000,000, a large part of the total being provided from State funds.

The great city owes, in bonded indebtedness, $2,312,625,070, on which interest, redemption and amortization charges aggregated $248,612,657 in 1935.

Reading a good book a week is not too much of a schedule for an individual who expects to keep informed.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

SUPPORTING OUR SCHOOLS

(Jackson News)

HERE'S the whole sum and substance of the public school situation in Mississippi as defined by the Laurel Leader-Call:

The legislature appropriation for common schools is admittedly short of what is needed for the conduct of the schools as they now stand. But it is a considerable increase over what the state has furnished for this purpose in the past. It is the counties, not the state, that have fallen down on the job of supporting the common schools.

It is obviously unfair and absurd to blame the legislature for not providing the whole amount needed for their maintenance.

Incidentally, it is to be hoped that, with a deficit staring them in the face, the people may bring pressure to bear and get schools consolidated where needed, and the county educational fund a bit more equally and fairly distributed than at present. If that were done, maybe a special session to provide for the schools would not be needed in 1937.

Keep one fact above stated in the forefront of your mind. It is the counties that are falling down on the public schools, not the state treasury.

Educational leaders who possess any gumption at all—so many of them don't—ought to know that the state treasury is not an inexhaustible fountain of wealth; that the commonwealth cannot assume the whole burden of supporting the public school system. Even if it could, such a plan would be bad for the schools, depriving them of the all-important factor of local interest in their welfare.

Discussing our higher institutions of learning, the Leader-Call says this:

There is talk about Mississippi having too many state-supported colleges. There is the University, Mississippi State, M. S. C. W., State Teachers College at Hattiesburg, and another at Cleveland.

For these schools many of us have a loyal affection. But sentiment does not blind us to the fact that if we had fewer colleges, we would have better ones, and the taxpayers would have more money left in their pockets.

Mississippi, where education is needed so direly, has wasted more good money on schools than two states need to spend. The reason we have so high a percentage of illiteracy is that there is too much politics and too little education connected with the matter.

Not within the past fifty years has there gathered in Jackson a more persistent educational lobby. Every trick known to the political game has been perpetrated to get more money out of the treasury.

Incidentally, it would be interesting to know who pays the expenses of all those county superintendents of education who have been spending so much of their time in Jackson since the first week in January. Do they charge it up to the school funds in their respective counties? If so, that money could have been better spent on the public schools.

ANALYZING A LEGISLATURE

(Jackson News)

GROVER C. HALL, editor of the Montgomery Advertiser—there isn't a better editor anywhere—has been studying the Alabama legislature with a calm and critical eye. Here is what he says about the body:

On the whole, members of the legislature are representative of the character and sense of the people. Most of them will trade, some of them are partial to powers that have favored them, but most of them are basically decent and trustworthy.

Most of them are practical men of the world who would rather conciliate an opponent than to antagonize him. They compare very well with the average board of deacons, the average board of stewards, the average board of elders, the average board of directors of a corporation, and the average committee on arrangements for the annual barbecue, the average committee on school rallies.

The above analysis could be aptly applied to Mississippi's present lawmaking body. Judged by former standards of personnel, it is a decided improvement over any legislature that has convened in Jackson during the present century.

"SPLENDOR" DRAMA OF NEW YORK SMART SET AT A. & G. NEXT WEEK

What happens when a spirited Southern beauty marries into one of New York's "first families" and is ruthlessly sacrificed in the battle to preserve their crumbling grandeur is depicted in dramatic fashion in "Splendor," the new Samuel Goldwyn film which brings William Hopkins to the A. & G. Theater, next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11.

Crae, last seen with her in "Barbary Coast," again appears opposite her in this Rachel Crothers' story.

All that remains of the once-great House of Lorrimer is its Fifth Avenue mansion, dominated by the imperious and embittered old Mrs. Lorrimer, whose schemes to recoup the family fortune by marrying her son Brighton to an heiress are shattered when he brings home his pretty but penniless Southern bride, Phyllis Manning.

The story reaches a gripping climax when the selfish and ambitious dowager pushes the girl into an affair with a wealthy and influential man and wrecks her marriage. But love comes to the rescue and brings the young husband to his senses and the film fades out with the pair finding ineffable splendor in the prospect of facing the future together in a two-room flat.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Paul Cavanagh, Helen Westley, Billie Burke, David Niven, Katherine Alexander and Ruth Weston.

Elliott Nugent handled the megaphone on "Splendor." Richard Day created the sets and Omar Kiam designed the costumes. The film is released through United Artists.

Congressional Sidelights by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

NEW TAX PROGRAM

SINCE the budget for this year was prepared, a number of expenses that were not anticipated have developed. The two largest resulted from the Supreme Court decision holding that the AAA and the processing tax are unconstitutional. A number of AAA contracts for the coming crop year had already been signed, and, whether they were legally binding or not, the Government has a moral obligation to carry them out. This will cost $517,000,000. Another $500,000,000 will be required to administer the new farm program, and, without the processing taxes to support it, additional funds to carry out the new farm program must be found. Also, there are the adjusted service certificates to be paid. In order to finance the amortization over a period of nine years of the $2,500,000,000 to be paid to service men, $210,000,000 will be needed this year.

The President added these three items and pointed out last week in his tax message to Congress that $1,137,000,000 in new revenues will be needed.

PRESIDENT'S SUGGESTIONS

The President proposed that this be raised as follows:

1. The permanent expenses—(namely, the expense of the farm program and of the payment of the certificates, which together amount to $620,000,000) to be financed by substituting a graduated tax on undistributed corporation surpluses for the present capital stock tax and corporate income tax. The surplus tax would average 33-1-3 per cent and is estimated to raise $1,614,000,000. However, the present taxes that would be repealed now bring in $994,600,000. So the gain to the Government would be approximately the amount needed.

2. The temporary expenses (for carrying out the AAA contracts) to be financed through an excise tax on farm processors and a so-called "windfall" tax to be levied on processors who benefited by the Supreme Court decision returning $180,000,000 in impounded taxes to the rice millers. The new excise tax would be lower than the AAA processing taxes and would be spread over more products.

Some opposition has developed to the President's plan, the most controversial feature of it being, of course, the tax on undistributed earnings. According to the President and his advisers, the plan will (1) spread income more widely to stockholders by penalizing the retention of earnings, (2) prevent speculation expansion or, rather, over-expansion with surplus funds, (3) promote the use of corporation profits to increase wages and thereby expand purchasing power, (4) plug tax loopholes opened by diverting earnings into surplus. On the other hand, the corporations insist that the surplus is a sort of "rainy day" insurance to see them over depressions.

Several alternative plans have been submitted to the Ways and Means Committee. Among these are increased income tax in the lower brackets and a manufacturers excise tax.

Gulfport Votes For Bond Issue To Help Build Inner Harbor

Proposed issuance of $68,000 municipal bonds as Gulfport's part of a $350,000 small craft harbor project carried by a vote of 135 to 73 in an election at Gulfport Monday.

The board of supervisors has agreed to appropriate $124,000 to construct a sea wall to protect the harbor and the PWA has made a grant of $152,000 for the project. The inner harbor will be located at a point between 20th avenue and the Great Southern Hotel, extending southward to the Illinois Central pier. It was said tonight that work will start at once and will give employment to 225 men for a year.

The ease with which new subsidies to agriculture were put through Congress indicates that the nation has added another group to its subsidy-favored elect. The farmers have joined the veterans, the unemployed, and the tariff-protected industries as special wards of the Government.

CLAIM OF $264,000 INVOLVED IN MILL FORECLOSURE SUIT

Mortgage Holder Charges Default on Notes, Interest

John Bright Lord of New York has filed suit in Harrison county chancery court to foreclose a $234,000 mortgage on the Walcott and Campbell spinning mill at Gulfport and asks that the property be sold to satisfy the indebtedness. Senator Frederick C. Walcott was the original holder of the indebtedness, according to Lord, having loaned the spinning company $234,000 in 1929. Lord declares in his bill of complaint that he acquired the mortgage and a series of promissory notes on February 29, 1929.

Not only have five notes, ranging from $10,000 to $78,000, remained unpaid, Lord avers, but default was also made in the payment of the interest. The original indebtedness and approximately $30,000 in alleged unpaid interest brings the total amount claimed under the mortgage to approximately $264,000, it was said.

SENATOR BILBO SEEKS DEEP WATER

A 35-foot channel for Gulfport harbor is one of the objectives of Senator Theo. G. Bilbo, he stated Wednesday. Senator Bilbo, said he is discussing the matter with officers at the corps of engineers so as to determine just what sort of a bill he will introduce.

The present channel, Senator Bilbo states, rarely has an effective depth in excess of 25 feet. This means that Gulfport must be content with the service of second rate ships. He thinks tonnage possibilities at Gulfport justify a 35-foot channel so that the better grade of ships may call at Gulfport.

Gex, Sr., who has been ill at his home the past four or five weeks, was able to get up for the first time Wednesday morning and in due time it is expected he will be able to leave his room. ## BRADDOCK ROCK

The sites of ancient cities consist of layers upon layers of debris, but even cities so youthful, so far as our civilization is concerned, as Washington, D. C., present illustrations of growth and over-growth.

Recently, writers have been describing features of the National Capital for the American Guide, the fourth coming 5-volume Government handbook on America. One was assigned to look up Braddock Rock. He was a persistent seeker and finally succeeded in finding it. The Guide will carry the details.

Possibly the reader never heard of Braddock Rock, perhaps he never knew that General Braddock landed on the shore of the District. Possibly all he recalls of the "doughty Britisher" was that he was badly defeated and killed at Fort Duquesne and that the remnants of his command were rescued from the French and Indians by the sagacious and youthful George Washington.

However, history records that the General disembarked from his ship on a rock and a pretty good sized rock at that. In those days, the waters of the Potomac river flowed deeply about its base and probably had done so for centuries. Braddock's object in coming ashore was to establish his camp for the night—the first night's stop on his way to the Ohio. Camp Hill, which centers at 24th and E Streets, N. W., is now the site of an unused part of the Naval Hospital.

As the demand for cheap transportation grew, the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal was dug. It entered the Potomac near by the General's landing place, which was covered by the upheaved earth.

For years, Braddock Rock lay buried and forgotten. At about the time that America entered the World War, an historical society learned from some old records of its existence and sent representatives to find it. Eventually, it was located by the chief engineer of the Naval Hospital eight feet below the surface of the open court of "H" Building. Today, it is surrounded by a brick wall and iron railing, a strange monument to the man whose death gave Washington his chance to demonstrate his soldierly ability in the eyes of a nation destined soon to require the services of a commander-in-chief.

THE ECHO'S
COOKING CLASS

THE most careful cook will at times have left-overs which can be made into attractive as well as palatable dishes. Of these, bread and potatoes are the most common. Save all stale bread dry in the oven, put through the grinder and keep in cans for future use for scalloped dishes, croquettes, puddings, or pancakes. Potatoes can always be used in soups, hash or salad.

Cheese-Potato Croquettes
1 cup cheese
2 cups mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 tablespoon green peppers
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon white pepper
1 egg
1 tablespoon cracker crumbs
Mix the above named ingredients in the order given, then shape as desired. Fry in hot fat.

Bread Pancakes
2 cups flour
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons shortening
3 cups milk
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
Salt and a little sugar
Beat egg, add milk and melted shortening. Then add bread crumbs, flour, salt, sugar, and baking powder. Beat well.

Scalloped Eggs
9 eggs
1 cup medium thick white sauce
Salt and pepper
1½ cups fine bread crumbs
Butter
Cook the eggs hard and when cool, slice them thin. In individual oiled baking dishes alternate layers of the sliced egg, crumbs and white sauce. Sprinkle the eggs with salt and pepper and dot each layer of crumbs with butter. Make the top layer of crumbs. Bake in an oven 400 degrees until the sauce bubbles thru the crumbs and the top is well browned.

Potato Pie
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon butter
1½ cups of any left-over meat
Salt—paprika
A few stuffed olives
Heat potatoes, add egg, butter and a little milk if necessary to moisten. Beat well and line a well greased deep pie plate. Fill with the meat which has been heated in gravy, sprinkle the chopped olives on top. Bake just long enough to brown the potatoes.

Gob—This dance hall is certainly crowded.

Girl—I'll say so. I danced half an hour ago and had to faint around four times before I could fall.

Personal and General

WOMAN'S ORGANIZATION
CELEBRATES TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

A LOVELY and interesting event was the banquet last Thursday evening celebrating the silver anniversary of the Women's Benefit Association, Bay St. Louis, which happy event took place at the Answer Union street.

For the occasion no detail was lacking. The decorative motif was silver and this was carried out not only minutely but effectively. The table carried as much silver ware as possible and silvered flowers and other decoration to correspond was spread over the table.

At each place was a corsage bouquet, typical old-fashioned shaped, reminiscent of the old days of a quarter of a century. Special corsages were presented to charter members, the number including Mrs. Kate Conner, Miss Miriam Engman, Miss Levia Engman, Mrs. George Suzenau, Mrs. Landry and Mrs. G. Y. Blaize. There were thirty guests present.

A guest of honor was Mr. S. L. Engman, who has always been an ardent and substantial friend of the organization and it was fitting that for the evening he be one of the chief speakers.

Other addresses were by Miss Miriam Engman, president, and also by Mrs. Fay Arguella, State deputy, who resides at Biloxi. And each of the charter members gave expressions appropriate to the occasion.

The W. B. A. organization is one of the best known and more popular organizations of our city, one that has ever been active and doing and at no time has activities lagged. From time to time many happy events have taken place and in addition to its being a benevolent association, it has served as one of the social organizations as well.

Under the presidency of Miss Miriam Engman and the unfailing cooperation of members the WBA's have flourished and our city is justly proud of this success.

Among the expressions of the evening many were wishing for many recent anniversaries and it was not hoping for too much to ask for the time when the fiftieth anniversary will be celebrated.
